

Attachment 1

CLD and GLD Funding Gap Contract Analysis

Are funds obligated on the contract beyond the date of the lapse in appropriations?

If yes, are Government personnel necessary for contract administration during a funding gap?

If no, perform exception analysis.

If no, the contractor may continue performance during a funding gap.

If yes, are the salaries of those personnel necessary for contract administration paid by other than current FY funds?

If yes, the contractor may continue performance during a funding gap.
*Use with caution on case-by-case basis

If no, perform exception analysis.

Does an exception allow the contractor to continue performance during a funding gap?

Is the contract necessary to assist in an orderly shutdown?

Is the contract necessary to protect in some significant degree the safety of human life or the protection of property?

Is the contract required for national security purposes or otherwise authorized by law to continue operations?

If yes, the contractor may continue to perform to the extent necessary to assist in the orderly shut down.

If no, the contractor should be issued a Stop Work Order or Suspension of Work notice, as appropriate.

If yes, the contractor may continue to perform to the extent necessary to protect in some significant degree the safety of human life or the protection of property.

If no, the contractor should be issued a Stop Work Order or Suspension of Work notice, as appropriate.

If yes, the contractor may continue to perform to the extent necessary for national security purposes or otherwise authorized by law.

If no, the contractor should be issued a Stop Work Order or Suspension of Work notice, as appropriate.